Industrial and Investment Policy of Assam, 2019

1.0 Background

The Strategic location of Assam, in proximity to the growing ASEAN economies, provides easy access to a market of over 800 Million consumers. All the major cities of ASEAN are located geographically closer to Assam, when compared to other major cities of the country. Being the heart of North eastern states, Assam is contiguous to all the N.E states. Hence, the demand from neighboring states can easily be addressed from Assam.

Assam's GSDP at current prices during 2014-15 was approx. USD 28.28 billion (approx. USD 918.74 per capita) and grew at 13 per cent CAGR from 2004-05 to 2014-15. During the period 2004-05 to 2015-16, the state's tertiary sector grew at a CAGR of 15.07 per cent, driven by trade, hotels, real estate, finance, insurance, transport, communications and other services. The primary sector grew at a CAGR of 11.62 per cent, while the secondary sector grew at 10.31 per cent during the same period.

Now in the age of regional economic cooperation, Assam has a strategic locational advantage. The State is the gateway to the vibrant economies of the South East Asian countries. Assam's unique location in combination with its rich natural resources and skilled manpower provides a natural backdrop for promising business. In terms of connectivity, industrial infrastructure, and policy initiatives, today Assam has very promising and investors-friendly environment in the country. All the major cities of the country are well connected through East-West corridor, air and rail network. Assam has highest numbers of airport density within the country with international airport at Guwahati. Waterway no. 1 through the river Brahmaputra and Waterway No-16 through river Barak provides access to sea ports of Kolkata and Bangladesh. Proposed Trans Asian Railway and Trans Asian Highway will further improve the connectivity with most of the countries under BIMSTEC and ASEAN.

2.0 History of Industrialization

Industrialization in Assam started in the 19th century with set up of the tea estates, coal mining and oil wells. The oil refinery at Digboi was set up in 1901, which is still functional. Assam remained one of the largest revenue earning states with one of the highest per capita income in the country before independence. After the partition in 1947, the State became completely land locked and lost access to the sea ports. Its traditional trade through Bangladesh was also disrupted as a result the State faced tremendous economic challenges.

3.0 Key Resources

3.1 Tea

Assam is the single largest tea producing region globally and contributes over 50 per cent (6,52,950 MT in 2015-16) of India's total tea production (1.23 Million MT in 2015-16). The state houses over 765 tea gardens across Tinsukia, Dibrugarh, Sivasagar, Jorhat, Golaghat, Nagaon and Sonitpur. The Guwahati Tea Auction Centre (GTAC) is among the largest CTC tea auction centres of the world. The government has secured a Geographical Indication (GI) for the tea produced in the state. As a result 'Assam Tea' is known as 'Assam Orthodox Tea'.

3.2 Oil and Natural Gas

The state is the third largest on-shore producer of Crude Oil and highest producer of natural gas in the country. Major state refineries are located at Digboi, Guwahati, Bongaigaon and Numaligarh, with a total refining capacity of 1,50,000 barrels per day. Ample availability of limestone has attracted several cement and chemical industries within the state. The Assam-Arakan Basin in Northeast India is an important oil-producing region and contains more than 15% of the country's reserves. Assam has over 1.3 billion tonnes of crude oil and 156 billion cubic metric tonnes of natural gas reserves.

3.3 Coal

Coal mined from Assam has high sulphur content and is mainly utilised by local railways, thermal power stations and steamers. Coal occurs mainly in the upper Assam districts of Tinsukia and Dibrugarh in the Makum and Dilli – Jeyapore coalfields. Small coal deposits occur sporadically in the central Assam districts of Karbi Anglong and North Cachar Hills. The proven reserve of coal in this belt is about 340 million tonnes.

3.4 Limestone

Good quality cement-grade limestone is found in central Assam districts of North Cachar Hills and Karbi-Anglong, where a total reserve of about 670 million tonnes is available. The China clay of Karbi-Anglong district is a vital input for the ceramic industries.

Currently, there are 7 operational jute mills in the State of various capacities. These mills have a cumulative average requirement of 72 Metric Ton raw jute per day. Annual requirement is about 26280 Metric Ton. The availability of adequate raw material, local demand and the proximity of the State to the markets of North East and the ASEAN region, makes Assam a suitable location for setting up jute processing industries in the State.

3.7 Rubber

Assam is the second largest rubber producer next to Tripura in North East. Assam recorded rubber production of 16,418.43 tonne in 2015-16. The state accounts for around 40 percent of rubber planted area in the NE and area for rubber cultivation stood at 55,989.68 hectares in the 2015-16. The objective of the Government of Assam is to promote bamboo as a substitute for wood and make it the timber of the 21st century. Assam has rich forests covering nearly a third of its land area. The forests in the state act as a reserve for commercially useful products such as timber, bamboo, stone, and cane.
